

- ~Long Live the Living~

Round Two c:

So we want this back up, and there's a few ways to go about it. Just.. add in your opinions or whatever at each point, I guess xD

A. Unarchiving LLL and continuing as it was, with the same characters, but letting new people join and change the plot

B. Restarting LLL

B1. as it was (starting with the wedding again)

I vote here because I don't know if I can be inspired to do new characters.

B2. as a sequel (starting with like 50 years later or something, with a mix of old and new characters) - I'm gonna go with this as my choice. I'll miss the old characters (the ones who don't live long enough, lol), but I want fresh things in there and I'm afraid that might be a bit impossible when we have characters and plots we love so much planned already.

MY VOTE

B3. Mixing the two

In any case, new people would be nice to have, so keep that in mind. There's a possibility of mixing the B's, also - like, starting again with the wedding but adding in the Prison plotline much sooner (as in, right away xD). That would get us action and creepiness coexist with the more easygoing politics stuff, which sounds good.

Also, as we all have many characters and not too much time, I'm thinking of tweaking the principle of posting a little bit. As in, we'll still be posting for our characters, but not necessarily for all of them all the time. As long as we're collaborating on posts and using each other's characters, all is good, even if not every character is posted for equally often. It's kind of more like we'd all be having a lot of playable NPCs whom we'd all use but respect what the owners wrote in their profiles. Makes sense, hopefully >.>

Stuff to happen before the wedding, during it and right after +post order <- we must yet do this part..

Dae ~ Does random stuff until the wedding, watches the tournament (I guess he doesn't fight in it?), is on the wedding, fights with Meg, gets killed, his body gets shipped off to Bar, gets imprisoned by Evil Quill after waking up, takes the throne, restores the castle and all that

Meg ~ Freaks out on Marcia about anything because he's just mean like that?, goes to Merillial, rapes Lie at some point, is at the wedding, fights with Dae and wins, helps Zain and stuff, flees to Scarthia with Aqui as he hears of Dae taking the throne and Marcia disappearing

Aqui ~ has weird things happen in the Ninth Temple, goes to Merillial and meets Rea, buzzes around during the wedding, randomly sleeps with Quill after Dae dies, talks to Meg and goes to Scarthia with him (and anyone else?), raises an army (which stays a secret for a while), meets Brek as he gets there the first time

Vys ~ couldn't care less about the wedding, talks to the Prison and goes crazy and mean,...something with Taia and idk.

Marius ~ gets to Merillial (I kind of have this written too), talks to Dae/Lierre/whoever, babysits Rea and TZ, spars with Brek, (maybe) fights in the tournament and then later with Quill, Marcia tells him about Lierre being his (does that work?), is at the wedding, tries to settle the whole Dae-dying situation

Marcia ~

Me ~

Demi ~ Walk with Rea and then fight with Zain

Thanks for leaving this here guys xD Wait, why Ludi first >.> Ludi was the last char I posted It's just about what which char does, it's not in any kind of order yet c: ^^

Ludi ~ Starts her affair with Thran / meets the elves -> powers + stuff / gets dumped / goes apeshit / goes to Barqarnon and works for Dae ... stuff

Profiles in there ^^ ;)

Riiight. So, about the powers the characters have.

yes, some are pretty powerful - or better said, almost everyone who have magic have the preposition to be indeed quite strong. However. In this story, they should all (and are so far) rely on their wits and their political and/or physical power, not magic.

Apart from that, all of the characters have weaknesses - to some, they're weaknesses connected to other characters (whom they're in love with or something). To others, they're actual magical weaknesses, holes in their magical laws, if you wish. There's a way for *everyone* to die, and to get hurt, and there is no one who can out power everyone else (not even Vys, who can manipulate basically everything in the Prison)

...frankly, for the sake of it, we could make so that, as the Prison grows stronger (which will happen, and no, it won't make Vys more powerful, it'll in fact make him weaker), all the magic starts fading. It even doesn't sound like a bad idea to me xP The more powerful ones would get affected first, and so on. It's discussable c:

I thought of this thing on magic - on giving info on it, that is. Despite of the natural talents for magic, or the lack of those, basically everyone is in position to learn *some* magic. That is, there are books, there are spells and moves and Alchemy and whatnot, and regardless of what was someone born with, that knowledge is (relatively) accessible to everyone.

However, of course, there are the laws of the countries, there are limitations and there must be reason when describing all that..that is, there would be no spell books in Eajra (or would be banned and/or hidden), some of the countries might have some limitations regarding topics and so on.

What about people who have really weak magical ability which means that they basically don't have magic. Since I was assuming that even if they could do spells, they might not have an aptitude totally. People who were born without natural magical abilities can still learn stuff from books. Like, literally, spells and so - by movement, words or something, they could make magic. It would however take them much longer to learn how to use them properly, than it would take the people born with magical abilities. Besides, I suppose that the students would be able to perform the spells only by using books (or something to read from), or symbols and stuff.
